When to Align with an HVAC Dealer

When deciding how to get the job done, it's important to understand your installation options.

When in doubt, a professional installation ensures the job is done completely and correctly by a trained professional who knows the equipment and can install the appropriate accessory products if necessary.

Consider aligning with a Honeywell Contractor Pro dealer if you need assistance with a security installation that includes energy management. Honeywell Contractor Pro dealers have the experience to assure the HVAC side of the installation goes smoothly.

If you need HVAC installation assistance using a Contractor Pro dealer, please call 1-800-919-4835, or send an e-mail to contractorpro@honeywell.com, identify yourself as a Honeywell products dealer and include the specifics of your installation.
